

Andrea Kossler, *Stanford University

Andrea Lora Kossler, MD, FACS, is Associate Professor of Ophthalmology at Stanford University School of Medicine, Director of Oculofacial Plastic and Orbital Surgery at the Byers Eye Institute at Stanford and Director of the Stanford Multidisciplinary Thyroid Eye Disease Clinic. Dr. Kossler specializes in thyroid eye disease, orbital oncology, and orbital surgery. Dr. Kossler's research interests include the proteomic evaluation of ocular surface and orbital inflammatory diseases and evaluating targeted therapies for orbital malignancy and thyroid eye disease. She has authored over 100 publications and abstracts and is a national and international speaker on thyroid eye disease, orbital disease, and surgical innovation.