Sponsorship Opportunities

Biologically inspired Physics is an extraordinarily wide field, covering the behaviour of systems from single molecular machines to organisms and even ecosystems. Physics Meets Biology 2019 will provide a view of the most recent and exciting research across a broad range of topics and scales: its scope includes physical probes and imaging, bioanotechnology and synthetic biology, molecular machinery, cytoskeletal mechanics, signalling, control, neural systems, development, evolution and ecology.

The conference is organised around an international programme of invited speakers and will include contributed talks and poster sessions. Its state of the art research coverage is designed to inform experts of the latest developments; it will also provide a valuable introduction to biophysical research for junior researchers including graduate students. Physics Meets Biology 2019 is the sixth in the series organised by the Biological Physics Group of the Institute of Physics.

The aim of the conference is to bring diversity and depth of expertise to a programme filled with oral and poster contributions, as well as key note talks. The conference is organised by the IOP Biological Physics group and the target number of attendees is 80–120, from both the UK and further afield.

Sponsorship

The conference offers an array of sponsorship opportunities for those companies who want to increase their visibility within the community. Due to limited facilities at the venue for an exhibition, our sponsorship packages offer you a solution to maximise communication with delegates.
