

Monday 4 July, 09:10 – 09:40

Session 1: Welcome and introduction

Discovery of atmospheric neutrino oscillations and future prospect on oscillation experiments

T Kajita

University of Tokyo, Japan

I will review the studies of atmospheric neutrinos that led to the discovery of neutrino oscillations. Studies of neutrino oscillations have been expanded substantially. I will discuss possible oscillation experiments in the future mentioning the role of atmospheric neutrinos.